The great statesman. Fox, as early as 1797, anticipated Giad tone's thought, when he saidwould have the Irish government regulated by Irish notions and Irish projudices, and I firmly believe, according to an Irish expression, it is the more she is under an Irish government, the more she will be bound to English interests." The first English statesman to make an effort at the practical realization of Fox's prin-ciple was Gladstone, who in 1859, passed a bill to diseasablish the Irish cho ch, and in 1870 passed a land bill for Ireland, which substituted the remainingth for the tenant at will, by surface of which the tenaut could not, as before, be dis-possessed of his holding, so long as he continued phasessed of his noming, so thing a secured to full compensation for my structural betterments he might have made. It had taken the English people more than seventy years to struggle up under the lead of triadstone to the statesmanship of For It was a strange fate that this great reform should have secured Gladstone for its first agreator and executive, who, at 21 years of reform should have security. Who, at 21 years of first agriator and executive, who, at 21 years of first agriator and executive, who, at 21 years of the structure of the struct but, like Gladstone, when the accrn of his intel-lect became an eak it burst the tory cup in which it had been first planted Gladstone, hatched in a tory nest, is to-day the thorn in the tory flesh; like Fox, he was born to make a camp for himself, not to be the camp follower part of Ireland, which to-day so buterly op-pases home rule, has furnished Ireland with all her formicable revolutionists, from Wolfe Tone in 1798 to John Mittbell in 1848 Tone, Grat-tag, the first great agricular for home rule, and Michell were all Protestants Mitchell was an 178h Presbyter an. The home rule agrication, of which Isaac Sutt was the first famous leader. was started by Irish Protestants Butt was a Protestant conservative originally opposed to O'Connell, and Parnell, the successor of Butt, is a Protestant. The protest of the Presbyterian church of Ireland against home rule sounds ab-tupd when we remember that the leaders of the movement for Irlah freedom, through home rule, whether English or Irish statesmen, have been and are to-day devoted Protestants. The pulpit is always more typoted and bourbon than the people. If home rule did not awaken but rather restrain the animosity of race and relig-ion in the case of Canada, we need not fear it would further disrupt Ireland.

Berene courage to abide the re-me victory if it comes, but otherto defy defeat as only victory deferred, not lost, is magnificent. He is the same heroic streaman that he was in 1866, when on the eve of defeat he said to his foes 'You cannot fight against it fo fature Time is on our side. This was said to a house that defeated Gludstone's till for the enlargement of the suffrage in 18th, and jet Gladstone's elaquent words were full of prophetic truth, for he lived to carry the passage of the franchise bill of last year that added millions to the voters where the bill of 1866 stood for a few thousand. This su'lime confidence in the ultimate triumph of legislation cast in the spirit of truth, justice and human'ty, this courage to carry his flag to fight and fall with it, but never to fly, is the quality that lifts Gladstone far above the level of a merely able positician into the serene no of pure and lofty statesmanship Gladstone in this sense is higher than any statesman of our time, save Lincoln Neither Seward nor Chase, no. RUITIED LEGISLATION uring the last ten lays of April the Inited States senute considered at least two hundred bills, involving measures of p mate relief, and directing in the aggregate the payment of over $1,500,400 by the government. Of these the large ma ently were reus on bills, calling for the helpment of over 700 con annually damage these talks is one trusty as pares in length, providing for the pay out of what is known as the "Fourth of July claims, containing in all about 1200 claims generally for small amounts The largest of these is for $67,000 to be paid to the widow of Hon Ayres P Merril, who owned several plantations in the vicinity of Memphis. When the Union army went there it took from these various stores and supplies. The loyalty of Merrill was rouched for by Gen. Grant, and he was by him made minister to Belgium, and the claim, suggestive as it is of the vast accumu-is ions of fraud, was added to the bill as an nent, and passed, being merely read by amendment, and passed, celog merely read by tiffe. Indeed, all of the buils thus ground through the senatorial mill were merely read by title. What a golden opportunity such a sersea of industry offers to get corrupt claims through congress. It is strunge that a body like that of the United States secate should noe-to be told that the simplest demand of hones-legislation is that a measure should be read be-fore a legislative body before action stakes upon it. The recent rush of bils through the senate was in direct violation of the rules of that body senator Ingalis of Kansas, protected scale was a water in the second of the secon

SCHOOL THEATRICALS AGAIN.

When the high school building was com-pleted, the directors decided very proper y that the assembly room was not a necessity, and postponed furmaling it. But it seems that the principal of the high sthoot had set his heart upon this particular ornamental apendage, and from his private means supplied the beaches, gas fixtures, carpets, etc. which are now in the room. It is to raise money to reimburse this gentleman that a series of theatrical entertain-

As there by the school district has been victimized shame-lessiy in the matter of the high school building, it is not an olycet of chartly and is quite able to do whatever may be deemed necessary to make the schools efficient. The directors abound not have allowed the schools to shaudon the schools efficient. The director has been so allowed the schools to abaudon their studies to sarn money to may a "mon" contracted in this way.

The secenthy halt is bt no practical use whatever. It is an ornamental appendage whose infinence is harmful to the students. It is devised not for any legitimate purpose, but to a fived a theaster for that parade and show which is as theaster for that parade and show which is as the steer for that parade and show which is as the steer for that parade and show which is consentable from their legitimate unities. It is a remarkable fact that whil a officers of the army have made a l possible effor a to escure the location of a naval station, on Poiget source, and have urged congress to foothry the entanda, the navy has entirely ignored this important and peculiarly exposed country. We cannot learn that any naval officer in recent years has more than in truth the armited officer in recent years has more than in truth the armited of Posset sevent in an than acted the suistence of Paget sound in an official report. Pagetsound affords pecular advantages for a manufacturing station. Coal, timber and iron, all of excellent quality, are in great abundance, and exceedent quanty, are in great abundance, and cheaper than at any other point on the Pacific coast. While San Francisco bay is thely adapted for a naval rendezvous, it has note of the advantages for manufacturing so easily available as at Puget so and Whether or not a naval station is ever est. bilished on the sound, it will be necessary to fortify the two or three tensages through which were abuse might three passages through which were ships might enter. But while this necessity is recognized, the government makes no effort to reserve lands which will be needed. In his ruther recently rubbished. Col. The London Times resterates Chamberlain's sling at Mr Gladstone, in relation to his views in 1861 regarding the rebellion in the United States. It says "The re-appearance of Jester son Davis, who Mr Gladstone halled as the creator of a new state enforces the though that the man who made that hapital mistake may be making another when he halls Parnell'ssemporary capture of the Irish representation as avidence that another nation has been born." It is a singular feature of the home rule struggle that American endorsements of Mr. Glacatione's measures and opinions in regard to American politics should be a chief element of the d scussion in the prass and in parliament on the sub-ject. The effete dynasties of the old world have a very predent and sagacious notion of the importance of American events and the course of American opinion.

The party of Apaches who were captured in Arizona some mouths ago and taken to St. Angustine, Florida, are kept in comfortable quarters and permitted to receive visitors, who flock in great numbers to see them.
